Political Survey of Americans

Trump, Epstein, and The American Party

Date: 30/07/2025
Project: 16811-180

Methodology

Method

Online survey among respondents 18 years of age or older. (Sample: n= 1,007).

Respondents had the option of completing the survey in English and were randomly recruited using LEO's online panel.

Weighting

Results were weighted according to age, gender, region, education, ethnicity, and number of people in the household in order to ensure a representative sample of the American population.

➔ Notes

A more detailed methodology is presented in the Appendix.

When

Data collection from July 25 to July 27, 2025.

Margin of error

For comparison purposes, a probability sample of this size yields a margin of error no greater than ±3.09%, (19 times out of 20) for the American sample.

Significant differences

Data in bold red characters indicate a significantly lower proportion than that of other respondents. Conversely, data in bold green characters indicate a significantly higher proportion than that of other respondents.

Rounded data

The numbers presented have been rounded up. However, the numbers before rounding were used to calculate the sums presented and might therefore not correspond to the manual addition of these numbers.

Key highlights

Some of the key highlights of our survey include...

The Epstein Case and Trump's Involvement

Awareness of the Epstein case is widespread. 84% of Americans say they've heard about it. Almost half of respondents (45%) believe Donald Trump was involved, while 29% disagree and 26% are unsure.

However, most Americans (77%) want all government documents related to the Epstein case released. This includes strong support across all demographics, especially among democrats (85%).

Importantly, the issue could affect Trump's base. One in four (27%) of those who identify as Republicans say they would be more likely to vote for another party if Trump were officially implicated.

Opinion and Approval of Trump and Vance

Public opinion on Donald Trump is sharply divided. A third (36%) of Americans have a favorable impression of him, while 49% are unfavorable. His job approval is similarly split: 37% approve of his performance and 51% disapprove.

JD Vance is less well known. One third of Americans (33%) view him favorably, 39% unfavorably, and 21% say they don't know enough about him.

Trump's Proposed Tariffs

Support for Trump's tariffs varies. Forty-seven percent support tariffs on China, 40% on Mexico and the EU, and 37% on Canada. Republicans are much more supportive than Democrats.

When asked who should have the authority to impose tariffs, only 20% say the President should decide alone. 25% believe Congress should have that power, while a larger share (40%) think both should be equally involved. Only a quarter of respondents (26%) believe the tariffs are primarily motivated by national security.

Elon Musk's "American Party"

31% of Americans support Elon Musk's proposed 'American Party,' while 41% are opposed. If the party were to be created and to present a candidate in 2028, 9% of decided voters say they would potentially vote for them, compared to 45% for the Democrat candidate and 40% for the Republican candidate.
